Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 28-44 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tsuda et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,151,003).

Tsuda et al. discloses a liquid crystal display and corresponding method of manufacturing thereof, wherein said display comprises a liquid crystal material sealed between two substrates, said liquid crystal material comprising fluorinated crystals having a negative dielectric constant anisotropy, as well as another material having photo-curing properties and containing both of monofunctional and multifunctional monomers.

4. Claims 28-44 are provisionally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by either copending Application No. 10/706,366 (U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2004/0105066) or copending Application No. 10/804,303 (U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2004/0191428), each of which has a common assignee/inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the copending application, it would constitute prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e), if published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b) or patented. This provisional rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) is based upon a presumption of future publication or patenting of the copending application.

Each of the aforementioned copending applications discloses a liquid crystal display and corresponding method of manufacturing thereof, wherein said display comprises a liquid crystal material sealed between two substrates, said liquid crystal material comprising fluorinated crystals having a negative dielectric constant anisotropy, as well as another material having photo-curing properties and containing both of monofunctional and multifunctional monomers.

This provisional rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the copending application was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131. This rejection may not be overcome by the filing of a terminal disclaimer. See In re Bartfeld, 925 F.2d 1450, 17 USPQ2d 1885 (Fed. Cir. 1991).
